About Nyíregyháza

Nyíregyháza is the seventh biggest town in Hungary, with a self-conscious and a patriotic population of almost 120.000. Its dynamic and spectacular development has been unbroken since the 18th century. Since 1876, it has been a county town as well as the economic and cultural driving force of the region.

Due to its fortunate geographical conditions, the town is impossible to by-pass. Near the city, there are three borders (the Slovakian, the Ukrainian, and the Romanian), and hence, its function as a bridge between the East and the West is indisputable.

About the College

College of Nyíregyháza was established in 2000 due to the merger of the two legal predecessor institutions: György Bessenyei Teacher Training College (1962) and the Nyíregyháza Faculty of Agriculture, part of the Gödöllo Agricultural University (1961). The college has five faculties. Following a strategy that adapts to the requirements of the 21st century, the college has completed academic and infrastructural developments for almost one decade that made its name known, both on a national and international level. The five faculties train experts in the field of humanities, teacher training, social and economical sciences, arts, technical, agricultural and natural sciences. The college offers 33 BA majors, 60 special fields of studies, 13 higher education vocational trainings and 8 MA majors.

FIABCI 1st prize, the best public building of the world

As the European winner of the FIABCI competition 17 July in Budapest the College of Nyíregyháza got its prize..

In the public building category the Campus development of the College of Nyíregyháza won the first prize. In the ceremony Balázs Tibor architekt, dr. Jánosi Zoltán, rector, and Csabai Lászlóné, major were present.

The future, plans

The college considers quality management as a very important task, too. The scientific research and the relation to real life are the basic tasks of every teacher; it is part of the institutional philosophy. One of the success factors of the College of Nyíregyháza is the well built-up organizational and faculty structure, as a result of which the content of the offered majors and trainings can be altered in a flexible manner. The college offers knowledge that is recognized all over Europe; the students perform well in any segment of the labour market. At present, the college has more than thirty BSc majors at five faculties, several MSc majors, and higher education vocational trainings.
